Fiames Sweep Up 100 Feet Through Elevator-Loss, $115,000.

The immence grain warehouse and devator of Nash, Whitons & Co. at the foot of Bowne street on the Atlantic Dock, Brooklyn, was the scene of a big fire this morning.

The fire was discovered at 5.45 o'clock by the watchman, William Vesey, He caw a congue of fame leap from a thirdstory window in the elevator.

Running to the engine house on Seabring street, he gave the alarm. A second alarm was turned in before the engines reached the scene.

The fireboats Van Wyck and Seth Low were also called.

The flames leaped up through the elevator, which is a narrow shaft 5 feet in diameter and 100 feet in height. Its construction made it a perfect flue and the fire, after eating its way through the roof, sent a column of flame through the top like a furnace chimney under

The fireboats standing at the water's edge just below the burning building sent atreams of water high into the Exploding grain dust blew out the fire doors between the elevator and the warehouse adjoining. The flames ate into warehouses No. 215 and 216, extending one hundred feet along the water front and two hundred feet back to Imlay street.

They are part of a stretch of warehouses extending five hundred feet along the wharf and controlled by the Brooklyn Wharf and Warehouse Company.

No. 216 was vacant and saved the en tire block from being burned. The flames ate back into the Lyman Grain Drying Company at Bowe and Imlay streets, which has just been rebuilt after a fire three months ago.

Additional alarms were sounded, as the building is in the heart of the warehouse district and tail buildings containing millions of dollars worth of stock were endangered.

A shower of burning grain and flying timbers floated from the burning buildings and descended on the shipping in All the sailing craft pulled out into Bucket brigades were kept busy averting fire on the larger ships and along docks.

At 8.30 o'clock a dosen firemen of engine 24, who were playing streams on the burning ruins of the elevator, had a narrow escape.

The heap of debris tottered and toppled over, precipitating half a ton of timber nd tin to the ground.

Chief Dale, standing one hundred feet way, saw the danger in time and yelled the men, "Run for your livee!" A moment later the mass fell, ris on the spot where they had stood.

wiv burning tracif out Supt. Wiggins, of the Warehouse Company, said: "The firemen could by ho possible means have stopped the spread of the flames from the elevator into the warehouse. The fire doors on the lower floor opened into grain bins. "There were 45,000 bushels of oats in warehouse No. 215, 4,000 bushels of wheat in the Lyman's stores, and No. 216 was empty.

Mr. Sothern has ceased to be an actorine. He is an actor. Oh, that he might continue to nourish his contemporaries on the strong meat and wine of Will Shakespeare! If he will play "Hamlet" all the Winter I can guarantee him one faithful auditor at least can move and thrill a multitude as "Hamlet" can I will understand why Shakespeare does not pay. But, alas! we must return to our Anthony Hope pap, and Sothern must be an actorine again.

The hold-up was evidently carefully planned and was executed with a cool deliberation which showed the robber thoroughly understood his business. Until he left the train few of the passenger realized that only one man was in the plot.

He is a very gentlemanly pape—the one in the play—with a fine electrical display under the brim of his hat. Now that I have explained it you will recognize the rays of light in the neture. Mr. Sothern unters the most filial zen/iments to the old gentleman, and in every way shows himself a son the most discriminating of apparitions ought to be proud of.

THE CARICATURIST'S DREAM.

Suppose Churies Frohman, jealous of the honor his brother Daniel has earned by permitting Mr. Sothern te play "Hamlet" in his theatre, should decide to take shakespeare under his wins; just think how appailing the consequence might be. In my dream I saw Maude Adams playing Cleopatra, and John Drew playing Othello. Why not? Charles Frohman movas in a mysterious way his wonders to perform. If it be his will that Annie Russell should uppear as Lady Macbeth, or Faversham as King Lear, no earthly power can avert the catastrophe. Mr. Sothern's triumph, grateful as it is to the reflective minority, may yet have appalling consequences.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 22.—Reports are coming in to-day of loss of life and great damage to property by the equinoctial storm that raged yesterday through the Trinity River Valley.

Two million dollars' damage has been wrought within an area of one hundred miles of this city through the destruction of the cotton crop and rairoad property.

According to the Hayes faction of the K, of L., Electrical-Workers' Union is said to be preceded and the organization has formed because there was no more room in No. 12. The new organization meets every first and third Tuesday night of the month at Twenty-third street and Taird avenue.

The union label of the American Federation of Musicians was indersed by the Workingmen's State Federation, when it was in session at Utica. The label is in the shape of a musician's lyre with the inscription "A. F. of M."

That the Cigar-Makers' Union intends gaining every demand it asks was shown by the action of the Label Committee, which refused to grant the label to a which refused to grant the label to a which was caused by the employment summinuscurer who stated that he would of imported actors and actresses, was settled by them joining the union. The organization and the managers of the theatre met at 123 Forsyth street and settled the differences.

William H. Frazier, secretary of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union, has issued a volume giving the outlines of the work accomplished by the union since its organization. He tells of the doing away to a certain extent with the crimping system, and shows where the conditions of the sailor are better under the union than they would be other.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine, as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalypiol and similar cleanaising antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrh alpoison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large pleasant-tasting lozouges taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly is the mouth. In this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire ailmentary canal.
